Excellent transport links are central to Rochdale's prosperity, and a new state-of-the art interchange connects the town to the rest of Greater Manchester.

Metrolink, Greater Manchester's tram network, is at the heart of the Interchange, which also includes a modern, well connected bus station. Metrolink trams arrive in the middle of town every 12 minutes, connecting Rochdale seamlessly to neighbouring towns and central Manchester (and its airport) beyond.

Rochdale Interchange is a bright, modern structure infused with natural light. Facilities include a travel shop, coffee shop and public toilets, and electronic departure boards provide real-time travel information. Buses from the Interchange cover much of Greater Manchester and beyond, with regular services to Accrington, Burnley, Bury, Manchester, Oldham, Todmorden and Rawtenstall.

The Rochdale Riverside retail and leisure centre, the central library at Number One Riverside and Rochdale's Grade I listed Town Hall are all within a short walk of the Interchange.
